

Your investments not only allow our programs for current/former foster/ probation youth to grow, but also contribute to staff development/training, hiring of new staff, and keeping our infrastructure working, which includes paying rent and keeping our lights on.

beyond emancipation

675 Hegenberger Road

www.beyondemancipation.org

Oakland, CA 94621

p: 510.667.7694

f: 510.667.7639

Suite 100

Why INVEST and GIVE to Beyond Emancipation (B:E)?

By investing in B:E, you are investing in programs and services that invest in current/former foster/probation youth.

B:E and community partners invest in coaching cohorts and programs so we can change the statistics and see more foster/probation youth succeed. "Everything that is helping me out, it can help more people," -DeVaugn Gray.

Clients invest in themselves. Both DeVaugn and Carolann (featured in this issue) chose to invest in their education and have seen their hard work pay off. Both graduated community college and will be transferring to a four-year university.

B:E and Laney Community College staff invested time and resources into the b2b Learning Community. As a result of this successful collaboration, California College Pathways has expressed interest in b2b as a replicable model of partnership.

Volunteer/Mentor Linda Gardner, began investing in Carolann in 2010 when she became her b2b tutor-- which led to her becoming a solid connection in her life. Four years later, Linda watched Carolann graduate from Lanev College.

It takes a team. It takes a partnership. Mentoring, Teaching, and Engaging. Connecting individuals with other individuals who are willing to invest.

Please consider a gift of $500, $250, $100, $50 or more that will allow B:E to continue to support current/former foster/probation youth in Alameda County. To give a gift, you can use the return remittance envelope provided or give online at: www.beyondemancipation.org/donate or call 510-667-7604.

INVEST and GIVE to B:E today! سطير وطواني اللور ووافعا والم

b:e in the know newsletter Summer 2014

Beyond Emancipation's

and former foster and adulthood and living independently.

probation youth to make successful transitions to

"Champions aren't made in the gyms. Champions are made from something they have deep inside them- a desire, a dream, a vision."

What is b2b?

collaboration between

College's EOPS program

It's designed to support

probation youth to be successful at Laney

current and former foster/

Community College and prepare for a satisfying

and rewarding career.

The b2b Learning Community is a

Laney Community and B:E.

b2b Learning Community Celebrates Another Year What do the 2014 b2b graduates have to say?

"Education is important to me because it is the foundation of knowledge and knowing what the world is all about. This past year, I learned that education can open doors to many opportunities and help you accomplish many goals in life.' De'Andre Baker, 20

"Education is important to me because I will be able to get a better job to provide for my family and future children. Without these opportunities. I would have died or been in iail. School saved my life. Lamika Ferdinand, 24

b2b has outstand

Foster vouth are far less likely to graduate college than other youth.

have achieved college retention rates twice as high as those of current and former foster youth nationally.

Beyond Emancipation

0:e this issue

- b2b Learning Community P.1
- Success Story: Carolann P.2
- Success Story: DeVaughn P.3
 - Why INVEST in B:E? P.4

B:E Housing Client, Kimberly and her son prepare the community garden for spring planting.

"Education is important to me because I will get far in life. This past year I learned that education can help me take the next step in building my career." Chase Guan, 21

"Education is important to me because it strengthens my knowledge of the world around me. This past year I learned that education can be the greatest accomplishment you can receive."

Mayari Hardman, 20

"Education is important to me because it's important to be well informed. This past year I learned that education can change my perspective and open my eyes." Aruthur Savangsy, 23

In May, b2b celebrated its fourth year. Twelve youth completed the 2013/14 cohort. Five youth graduated from the two-year program and six youth completed their first year.

"Those individuals who will be recog nized today who are finishing after two years, congratulations, because that was determination. That was mindset. That didn't just happen. Dr. Mildred Lewis, Laney College Dean of Student & Academic Affairs

"You can all be winners, it may be hard, it may be tough. I promise you that B:E, Laney College, and this group of people surrounding you, will support you. You have people in your corner. Muhammad Ali had a team. You have a team. I really encourage you to take advantage of that." Richard McCracken, B:E Executive Director

"I want to say that I am very proud of each one of you and I am proud of you for choosing to invest in yourself and allowing us to support you in that regards." Dr. Elnora Webb, Laney College President

B:E Board of Directors

Amyx, Scott Baker. Collin Hoenig, Helene | Secretary Kho, Andrew | Treasurer Ling, Jennifer Ricardo, Joy Sarsam, Tony | Vice Chair Ward, Michael | Chair Westfall, Katherine

B:E Staff

Aboyme, Mariana Brown. Leslie Count. Ike Davies, Zimbabwa Dorsey, Davita Douglas, Brianna Durham, Kate Fournette. Cassandra Ghevondvan. Lusine Goldware, Sara lae. Adekunle Jones, Kamela McCracken, Rick Miranda, Angely Mora, Daniel Ralph, Courtney Shumate. Shanina Smith. Tempest Spears, Shante Stratton, Raquel Traina, Alison Vasquez, Daniel Walker. Christopher West-Anderson, DeShauna

For contact information. download contact sheet at www.bevondemancipation.org/ staff.php

Carolann Perales will have two A.A. degrees when she starts Cal State East Bay in Spring 2015. She earned her first A.A. in Language Arts in May and will finish her second degree, in Social Science next fall.

Perales has been participating in B:E programs since 2010. She graduated from the two-year b2b program in 2012 and completed two New Beginnings Fellowships.

Perales was eight years old when she was put in foster care and aged out of the system when she turned 18. Perales wants to be a social worker because she had experiences she didn't like and thinks there needs to be a stronger screening process to become a foster parent.

"We need better social workers and I want to work with children," says Perales.

"Calling B:E for the first time was the best thing I have done," said Perales. She says it helps to have support, especially when other people surrounding you are negative and telling you that you can't do it. "Don't give up and make sure you have a support system. Keep taking yourself forward; when you give up, that is when you lose." savs Perales.

When she first started b2b.

Beyond Emancipation Cohorts: Creating Connections that Support Transformation

Carolann Perales. 23

Perales didn't really want to engage or interact. Over time, and after being in various cohorts, she began to open up. She says before she was in the shadows and now she is in the light. "That stuff, it opens you up." said Perales about the coaching and team building in the cohorts. "At first I was ashamed to be centered as a foster youth, but now I feel like everybody has a story," says Perales. "After being in cohorts with other foster youth, I feel like I'm not the only person who goes through hardships in life. I came out as a different person."

Perales made a decision to strive for better because she wanted to do better than others in her life. She wants to be self-sufficient and not be dependent on SSI or other social services. She says her family can be negative and it used to bother her. but now she has learned to accept it and that you can't change people. Perales says she arew stronger and learned a lot about herself while in the B:E programs. She sees herself differently, has a higher self-esteem and is more positive. She savs one of the greatest skills she has learned is to advocate for herself and ask for help when needed.

Perales says that participating in B:E programs was an experience she will never forget and she appreciates the connections she has made. While working at the President's Office at Laney, Perales developed a personal relationship with Dr. Webb. the Laney College president. She also became very close with the staff at B:E and EOPS, where she currently works. She says, "They believed in us and made us feel special.'

Perales also made a connection with Alison Traina, B:E's Education and Employment Specialist. Perales is shy and always hated public speaking, but with Traina's encouragement, Perales became more comfortable with it and found her voice.

Perales appreciates the relationship she formed with her b2b tutor Linda Gardner. She met Linda in 2010 and Perales was happy she attended Perales' graduation in May. "She taught me everything, even if she doesn't know, she is down to do whatever. She always has a strategy to help," says Perales.

Perales has been told she is making a lot of progress by different people in her life. "They tell me that I have grown and improved. I feel like I have accomplished a lot."

She has many hopes for the future. She envisions having a good job as a social worker and a place of her own. She hopes one day to be able study abroad in Paris. She wants to give back and volunteer at orphanages in Mexico. She also wants to adopt one day after she finishes college. She will continue to work for EOPS this summer and is excited to finish her last semester at Laney this fall.

"I am happy to be one of the ones to actually make it through the community college process," says DeVaughn Gray about graduating Merritt College with his AA in May 2014. He is proud and excited to transfer to Cal State East Bay in Fall 2014 as a Criminal Justice major. His goal is to become a youth probation officer.

Gray says he takes all opportunities he can and takes nothing for granted. He values making the right choices that will lead him to success. He is clear on his goals. "I want to finish school with a strong GPA, and I want to get on the Dean's List".

He wants to reach his full potential as a man, hold down a job, and be able to take care of his daughter and family.

"I don't want to see my family struggle forever. I feel like it is time to break the cycle," said Grav.

"I want to be a mentor, not only a probation officer," says Gray. He believes that most folks just need someone to listen and talk with them. He wants to be able to counsel youth, just like he was helped. Gray says being removed from his home, going to juvenile hall and being placed in a group home was a wakeup call for him. He didn't have a strong positive influence in his life and realized there were consequences for his actions.

DeVaughn Grav. 21 He began to value his freedom and future. When asked to define success. ly opened my eyes. If they can Grav savs: "Success is being do it, than I can do it. They were able to be happy for the most facing worse predicaments than part. Being happy with yourself me. The sessions became realand pat yourself on your back. ly real," says Gray. even if nobody else pats you on Gray says that at first going to your back." He also notes that school consistently and doing being able to see your accomhomework was a challenge. plishments and appreciating "Even though I was in college, I what you worked hard for is wasn't college ready," said Gray. B2b was his anchor for a period success. He acknowledges that a lot has been offered to him of time when he really needand he is glad he took advaned it. It was there when he tage of all the opportunities he was looking to find himself and could. Gray says that if it wasn't find how to live. One of his for B:E's support, he would not proudest moments, outside of be where he is right now. finishing the b2b program, was Gray first connected with B:E when it came time to petition in 2009 after he left his group for graduation. He made a plan home. Since then, Grav has and executed the tasks himself. participated in B:E's two-year The feedback he received from peers and teachers who proofb2b program and two New Beginnings Fellowships. He read it validated his self-suffialso interned for B:E as the New ciency and how far had come in Beginnings Program Support life. He still keeps a copy in his backpack as a reminder. "It is Intern. Gray says that the programs have provided him with something I did myself, something I cherish, and I know I did great experiences and gave him hope for a better future. He a good job," says Gray. Gray says he appreciates being said he appreciates the opportunity to network and build relapart of the New Beginnings Fellowship because he knows tionships with "folks that matter," it was an experience that most and learn skills to keep himself organized. One of the greatpeople don't get. "It helps you get that profesest tools he said he learned from b2b and New Beginnings sional experience while getting paid," says Gray. He said he felt is how to have one-and-one conversations with important so good dressing up in business people and have relationships attire with his county badge. with his elders. On the bus people would ask him what he was doing and he Gray says when he first started participating in the b2b cohort he didn't guite understand the coaching process or purpose. After time went by, he says he gained confidence, opened up, and developed relationships. He met people who were facing similar or worse situations.

"It started to feel like a family environment." said Grav. "It real-would proudly tell him he was an intern for Alameda County. "The New Beginnings program is something I want to see go along as far as it can, expand to other counties, be an opportunity for more people. The opportunity is grand," says Gray.

B:E's work is only possible because of our generous donors.

THANK YOU to evervone who has contributed to us in 2014. We are grateful to each and every one of you for your investment.

There are many ways you can connect with B:E.

Twitter: https://twitter.com/beyonde manciptn

Like Us on Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/ beyondemancipation

Donate Online: http://www.beyondemancipation.org/getinvolved.php

LinkedIN: http://www.linkedin.com/ company/beyond-emancipation

Videos on YouTube: http://www.youtube.com/ user/BEBeyondIdol

Photos on Flickr: https://www.flickr.com/photos/ beyondemancipation